- See how many times each error occurred and how many users it affected with aggregated errors.
- Sentry has SDKs that support most languages
- By customizing alert rules and integrating into the tools you already use, you can receive alerts when (and if) you want them,

RESOLVER

The newly assigned issue owner now has the context to iterate on the code and commit the fix. Resolve via commit is a useful way for that engineer to stay organized and productive. Referencing the issue in the commit (e.g., Fixes ISSUE-ID-123) will mark it to resolve in that specific release and mute notifications for that issue before the fix deploys.

The deployment pipeline then picks up the change and deploys it. You can also configure deploy emails to send details on how many files have changed and what commits are being released once the code gets deployed.
